Eurex Clearing would like to inform all Clearing Members that the concentration limits for equities for margin collateral have been verified. As a result, Eurex Clearing will change the concentration limits for equities to one per cent of the daily free float per instrument. The change will become effective on 1 April 2015.

Clearing Members will still be able to get information about the number of instruments per category which are free for deposit via the Eurex @X-tract Clearing GUI.

Affected Clearing Members will be contacted and informed about a potential exceeding. In this case, a transition period of two weeks will be granted in order to replace the instruments exceeding the new limit of one per cent.
