Since December 2012, the products available for trading on Eurex are being migrated to Eurex Exchange's new trading architecture in a stepwise approach.

1. Migration of Fixed Income products

The product migration is now nearing completion and due to the success of the migration phases performed so far and in response to requests from its participants, Eurex has decided to shorten the migration period for the Fixed Income products, which was initially planned for 10 June to 12 June 2013.

The migration of the remaining Fixed Income products is now scheduled to take place on one single day. The products will become active on the new trading architecture from start of trading on 10 June 2013.

An updated list of products for the product migration (.csv file) is available for download on the Eurex website www.eurexchange.com under the following link:

Following the migration of the remaining Fixed Income products on 10 June 2013, the migration of products to Eurex Exchange's new trading architecture and the transition period will be complete.

2. Amendment of Price List to the Connection Agreement

As announced in Eurex circular 282/12, during the migration period, only the connection fees with regard to the old trading architecture are being charged.

With the completion of the migration as outlined above in section 1., the connection fees with regard to the new trading architecture will come into effect as of 1 July 2013.

The Price List to the Connection Agreement has been amended to reflect all existing and newly introduced Eurex Trading and Back Office Sessions for the new trading architecture.

Please note that existing customer connections to the old Eurex® trading system will not be cancelled by Eurex automatically. Participants are requested to initiate any connection cancellations.
