Disaster Recovery Test

In our circular 111/04 from August 18, 2004, following a proposal of the Technical Advisory Committee, we invited all Eurex/Xetra participants to register for participation in a Disaster Recovery Test.

Although the required minimum number of ten participants for each market, Eurex and Xetra, was narrowly not achieved, the test will still be performed, as requested by the members who already registered.

The Disaster Recovery Test for Eurex and Xetra will be held on October 9, 2004, between 12:00 noon and 18:00 CET for registered participants. We ask for your understanding that the environments will be available exclusively for registered participants on October 9, 2004, as participation in the Disaster Recovery Test will be charged.

During the test, registered participants have the opportunity to connect their disaster recovery environments to the Eurex and/or Xetra production backend and receive the public news broadcast. Order entry will not be supported.

In addition, the following scenarios will be available:

- Communication server failover
- Failure of backbone connection
- Failure of all backbone connections
- Recovery of the backbone connections
- Member-specific outage (including complex outage)

The participants will receive a detailed time schedule about one week prior to the start of testing.

Eurex/Xetra members wishing to register for the Disaster Recovery Test now are requested to fill in and send the enclosed registration latest by Wednesday, September 29, 2004 to the fax number +49-69-211-1 16 41.

As previously announced, registered participants will be charged a maximum of 2,500 euro or less per market, depending on the number of registered test participants, together with the invoicing process for October 2004.

After the Disaster Recovery Test, all participants will receive a written confirmation of their participation.

For any further information you may require, please contact the Eurex Technical Helpdesk, telephone +49-69-211-1 12 00. The Eurex Technical Helpdesk will be also be available for support during the Disaster Recovery Test.
