Optional Releases

Optional releases can include new functionality in the F7 user interface (GUI) to support new products, segments or additional functionalities on existing segments and products. These releases will not impact member or vendor developed software, however they may contain optional enhancements to the F7 programmable interfaces (API/FIX) that customers may choose to implement on their own timelines.

Mandatory Releases

Mandatory releases can include new functionality in the F7 API/FIX to support new products, segments or additional functionalities on existing segments and products. These releases will impact member or vendor developed software and will require at minimum a recompilation of the message definitions.

Changes to Technical Requirements

Changes to technical requirements (browser upgrades, library changes) will normally be made in combination with a mandatory release and full details will always be communicated in the preliminary and final release notes.
