Eurex Dividend Derivatives outline

What are they & which dividends count?

Outline

- Dividend Derivatives allow investors to take positions in, or hedge, future dividend payments – and can be based on individual stocks or on equity indexes.
- The futures and options contracts themselves settle to the realized value of dividend payments in a future period – i.e. that period referenced by the contract.
- In Europe the most common settlement period is an annual one (Dec to Dec) and the settlement of each contract is the value equivalent to dividends paid - either in cash (for individual stocks) or the dividend amount in index point equivalents.
- Gross (100%) of declared dividends, paid either in cash or shares, unless the related primary derivatives exchange / index provider makes an adjustment to underlying.

Qualifying dividends

- Stock dividends are usually included at the cash equivalent amount.
- Dividends declared special or extraordinary by the issuer are usually excluded*
- Return of capital: they follow the related underlying exchange rules.
- Share buy-backs are excluded.

* However where such a special dividend is adjusted in the underlying price index by an amount net of withholding tax – that withholding tax element is used in the calculation for the gross dividend points.
